THE STATE AND EDUCATION.

Views of Ex-Governor Seymour—Eloquent Defense of the American System.

[S. F. Bulletin.]

Ex Governor Seymour, at Madison University, a few days since, discussed the proper relations of the State to schools and colleges. He says that those who are hostile to the support by the public of any except primary education, and those who hold it is the duty of the General Government to establish at the public cost great universities, and in the end assume jurisdiction over the education of the American people, are both wrong. One class because they look at the subject solely in the light of the influence or bearing upon the man who gains it; the other because they disregard the genius of our government. The mistake of the former he ascribes to the false impression conveyed by "educated classes," suggesting the idea, which is no general, that education is something that belongs to classes, and to all conditions of men. There is still in the public mind an impression that colleges and academies are in some way mainly for the advantage of particular professions, and not for the general good. It is true that this is the case in Europe, but it is not so here. Ex Governor Seymour says: The great peculiarity of the American system, which distinguishes it from all others, which at once demands education and makes education, is the way it distributes the powers and duties of office. Its roots run through all the land. They seek out in every spot, no matter how remote, men upon whom it imposes the duty as officials in all that relates to the welfare of their several townships. It calls upon some to administer the law upon local questions which spring up in their neighborhood. Another class are made conservators of the peace, and are armed with authority to arrest offenders. Others look after the common financial interests. Some take care of the highways, and others have charge of schools; and when these act wisely and well, all in a little time are taught the full measure of their duties to the public in which they live. As I said, this is a system which educates and demands education. In the course of a large experience in public affairs I have been struck with the wisdom of men trained in this way in all that relates to our State or country. They are well grounded in the rudiments of government. It is here that education is of vital importance. Here it must be cherished; not only by the local community, but in every home and at every fireside. I do not know which error is the greatest, that which would take away this home subject and give jurisdiction to the general government, or that which holds our common schools may teach too much, and that academies and colleges are for the benefit of a class and not for the general welfare. Schools of the simplest kind awaken a desire for learning. As they improve in the character of their teachings this desire increases and higher attainments are sought. As education becomes thus more varied and far reaching, it naturally demands a division of institutions where its different degrees can be most conveniently taught. These are called schools, academies, colleges or universities for convenience of designation, while they are all but parts of one continuous course. These, upheld by public aid, by private benefactions and by the sums paid by those who struggle for learning, make our American system of education. Born, nurtured and developed at the same time and in the same wave, and as an essential part of our political institutions, I claim that it is entitled to the same measures of support and confidence in its wisdom which we give to the structure of our government.

Concerning the theory of those who would have the State erect great universities and take general charge of educational matters, the speaker said: Persons of this class look upon the government as the great central source from which should emanate law, learning and industrial prosperity. They forget the fact that history should teach them that this central political body is itself but an emanation from the power, patriotism and intelligence of the States and the communities covering this broad continent. Constantly undergoing changes of the men who compose it, some going up to it from their respective constituencies, and others returning to the body of the people which they once represented, the central power of our government can only reflect, it cannot cultivate, the virtue or intelligence of the American people. All will agree in this proposition, however we may differ about the jurisdiction of Congress. To take the subject of education away from the popular care would give it a deadly blow. The very fact that the duty of cherishing it is distributed to every township and carried home to every citizen is, of itself, a better system for teaching the minds, lifting up the morals, and ennobling the patriotism of the people than can ever be devised by all the wisdom that ever has or can be assembled at Washington. It is charged that our colleges are sectarian. It is better they should be so rather than partisan. Sectarianism is now talked about as if it were an offense to the spirit of our laws, and I fear our colleges sometimes shrink from the charge as if it were not well to have it known that they had the support of different sects. It is not true that either the Constitution of our Union or our State looks with disfavor upon creeds. Each denomination can have its colleges and schools organized under the laws of our State. As all are upon the same footing, "no distinction or preference is shown" when we give to all the aid of laws or benefactions which apply to all alike. Popular education is not harmed by this, nor is the general intelligence impaired; on the contrary, it calls out a support of education by men of all creeds, and excites the liberality of individuals and communities. I believe in religious and all other forms of zeal in behalf of honest opinions. I have seen much of men, and never knew of an earnest man who was not a useful one. When I see zeal without knowledge, I do not wish to quench the one, but to enlarge the other.

A DANISH HERCULES.—Holtum is a Dane, an extraordinary man, who has been exhibiting in England marvelous feats of strength. He placidly throws about balls weighing 22, 36 and 54 pounds, and holds, with arms outstretched on either side, a horse pulling at each side. Another thing for which he is remarkable is a trial of strength with two horses. He stretches himself along the ladder on his face, his feet stretched against one of the rungs and his hands holding on to another. Round his wrists are bands fastened to the ladder to assist his grip. Over his shoulders and around his waist is a well padded harness, to which two good sized horses are attached by a hook and strap. These horses try their utmost to move him, but in vain. He left his native country as a boy before the mast, and has wandered over a great part of the world. He gets a salary of from $100 to $200 a week.

A VESSEL recently arrived at Liverpool with the extraordinary freight of three living whales, brought from the coast of Labrador, and intended for public aquariums. They were each about 14 feet long, eight feet in girth, and 1,000 pounds in weight. On the voyage they were placed in long wooden boxes, reposing upon a bed of sea weed, and were flushed with water from a bucket every few minutes. The flushing had the curious effect of peeling off strips of their skins, so that the coat will be entirely shed by the time they get into their permanent tanks. No food was given them on the voyage. When they were being removed ashore two of them, it is said, emitted a very peculiar kind of scream.

DIVIDING THE ANIMALS.—P. T. Barnum is said to have remembered 124 editors in his will. We'd like our giraffe now, before Barnum dies.—[Detroit Free Press. We don't expect to get anything more than the guns, but we're not proud.—N. Y. Com. Adv. What we want is the rhino serious.—[Phila. Bulletin. Lots of us would be content with a bear living.—[Port Chester Journal. Wonder if any of you are a lion about this?—[Bridgeport Standard. If he will keep the wolf from our door, we'll continue to pay for our own beaver.—[Norristown Herald.

A DECREE has been issued from St. Petersburg for the foundation of a university at Tomsk, in Siberia; and the buildings, the construction of which will cost about £70,000, are to be ready in 1882, for the three hundredth anniversary of the annexation of Siberia to the Russian empire.

AN old lady from the country, upon seeing a placard in a store window announcing "one price for all," was mightily disappointed when she went in and discovered that instead of being able to buy all in the window for $1 50, she must pay "one price" for one article.

WHEN Ebenezer Ward, of Oshkosh, refused to have the ceremony performed, his girl promptly knocked him down—in other words, she razed her Ebenezer.

THE DAILY JOURNAL

Is the best daily paper published on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, east of Sacramento, and having a general circulation throughout the State, it is especially valuable as an advertising medium.

THE DAILY AND WEEKLY JOURNAL

Have a combined circulation larger than that of any interior journal of Nevada, excepting those of the Comstock.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

Gen. Howard is at Granite Creek, Oregon.

The periodical revolution in Mexico is feared.

Tramps are taking possession of trains in Iowa.

Wm. Sutcliffe, the champion swimmer, was drowned in the Mississippi, yesterday.

Jas. Gilmore and $15,000 are missed from Cincinnati by the United Express Co.

Kearney leaves San Francisco to visit his mother in Boston, on the 21st. He made a rousing speech Sunday.

The Indian troubles in Oregon and Washington are getting more serious than ever. In one fight 11 whites were killed.

The Secretary of State has instructed our Consul at Tangiers, Morocco, to co operate with the representatives of other governments, in using his good offices in behalf of the oppressed Israelites.

Mr. Winters of California, who owned Mollie McCarthy, is now in Chicago, and states that he has sold the mare to Budd Doble. The consideration is not named. It is privately stated that the sale was actually made to another party, represented by Mr. Doble, and that a check for $10,000 was passed to the credit of Mr. Winters while the mare was en route from Omaha to Louisville. It is not known whether this was the whole or a part of the price agreed on for Mollie McCarthy.

There is more excitement in Louisville over the Ten Broeck Mollie McCarthy race than ever, and the latest facts are sought with an avidity truly astonishing. Winters, Walsh and company bade farewell to Kentucky yesterday, and Mollie McCarthy was sold to Budd Boble; price unknown He took her to Kankakee, Illinois, the hot weather here hurting her very much. One of her forelegs is very much swollen and experienced turf men say she will never be able to run again. Doble don't think so and desires to run her against any horse or mare at any distance for any sum.

HUMBOLDT'S FLAG.

The Winnemucca Silver State gives the following as the history of the flag which floated so proudly from the flagstaff on the dome of the Humboldt county court house on the 4th. It says:

When Governor Nye and Bill Stewart wanted Nevada, with less than 40,000 inhabitants, admitted as a State, that they might go to the Senate, a committee of citizens of Storey county, who were not in the ring, offered a premium of a flag 16 by 24 feet to the county that gave the largest majority in proportion to the number of votes cast, against the Constitution. Humboldt was almost unanimous against admitting Nevada as a State, and was awarded the flag for being the banner county The flag has been in possession of the county since that time, and flung to the breeze on national holidays Now that it is partially torn, it should be laid away to be used only on the Fourth of July and Washington's Birthday.

SERVICES APPRECIATED.—The Winnemucca Silver State says:

The services of Chief Naches in saving the lives of settlers on the Nevada and Oregon border from the murderous Bannocks, have been duly appreciated. He has been presented with a handsome silver medal and badge, the workmanship of J. J Wait, by the citizens. The medal bears the inscription, "Presented to Chief Naches by Humboldt county," surmounted by clasped hands On the badge from which the medal is suspended is a solid silver bow and and arrow, and the motto, "For services rendered citizens in the Bannock war.

PERHAPS the most remarkable pedestrian challenge ever made is that of Captain John T. Guire, a submarine diver of Cincinnati, who has proposed, on a wager of $10,000, to walk under water, on the bottom of the Ohio river, from Cincinnati to Cairo, in twenty five days. The distance is something over five hundred miles, requiring him to make over twenty miles a day.

AMERICAN RAILWAYS.

The eleventh annual number of Poor's Manual of Railroads of the United States, was published in New York a few days ago. From advanced sheets, we find that there was 74,000 miles of railroad operated in the United States in 1877; that the capital and funded debt of these roads amounts to $4,568,597,200, or more than twice the debt of the United States, which has for some time been considered to be the largest thing in this country; that the gross earnings were $472,909,300, including $342,859,200 from freight and $130,050,100 from passengers; that the net earnings were $170,976,700, from which dividends to the amount of $58,556,300 were paid. The number of miles of railroad in operation in 1877 is the largest ever reported, though the gross earnings were less than for any previous year since 1872 The net earnings and dividends are of the greatest interest, and these have been as follows:

Years.	Net Earnings.	Dividends
1871	$141,746,800	$56,456,700
1872	165,754,600	64,418,200
1873	181,810,600	67,140,700
1874	189,571,100	67,047,900
1875	185,846,400	79,294,200
1876	186,462,800	68,019,700
1877	170,976,700	58,556,300

Out of the net earnings in 1877, a little over 34 per cent. was returned in dividends. The number of miles of new railroad put in operation in 1877 was 2,177, which is about the average of the previous three years, though only about half of the average from 1872 to 1873.

ALTHOUGH French is the language of the diplomacy there is more English than French spoken at the Berlin Congress. Prince Bismarck, Herr Von Bulow, Count Andrassy, Count Schouvaloff and M. Waddington speak English fluently. It happens that of the seventeen plenipotentiaries only five besides the two representatives from Paris speak French to perfection. These are: Count de Launay, the Italian Ambassador at Berlin, who is half a Frenchman, and the two Turkish statesmen—Caratheodori Pasha, who is a Greek educated in Paris, and Mehemet Ali Pasha, who was born in Prussia of French parents named Deniot, and is only a Mussulman by conversion. Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury, of course, understand French thoroughly, but they have perhaps been wanting in practice. Prince Bismarck speaks French somewhat hesitatingly, but very correctly and with a fair accent.

THE Sacramento Bee says the Grand Army of the Republic is extending itself on this coast A large Post was recently organized at Los Angeles, and steps are being taken by the Department Commander to organize Posts at Carson, Portland (Oregon), and other cities. The Order is benevolent and highly patriotic, and those who talk of destroying the Republic and establishing a Dictatorship or Constitutional Monarchy (and there are not a few who talk that way) will find in it a powerful foe. Ex-soldiers and sailers of every shade of politics belong to it— Democrats as well as Republicans, Independents, Greenbackers, etc.

One of the marvels of this age of emigration and enterprize is the rapid settlement of the Yellowstone valley. At the point on Tongue river, where Gen. Miles encamped in 1876, there is now a town with a population of 1,000. The battle fields of Custer and his men are occupied by farmers and the country from which Sitting Bull was driven is in the peaceful possession of the pioneers of civilization.

STOCK RANCH.—The Sacramento Record Union of a late date has the following item:

Theodore Winters recently purchased the "Grandon Ranch" of Mrs. Grandon. The ranch is well known in this county as a most valuable property. It contains about 1,000 acres, and is situated upon the Freeport road, about four miles from this city, lying between the Riverside road and the Freeport road. It is understood that Winters has sold his farm in Solano county and will remove all his stock to his new purchase in this county, where he will establish a race course.

TODLEBEN, the hero of the Russian campaigns, had never seen Constantinople until he reached the head quarters at San Stefano. He is now amusing himself by making excursions and visiting all the objects of interest in the city and the environs He is very fond of Prinkepo, and goes there often, and he and his aids de-camp are frequently to be seen riding on donkeys up the pine covered slopes of that lovely island There are a great many English children staying in the hotel, and when he finishes his dinner he plays with them, and charms them all by his good humor.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, June 26, 1878.

The discreditable record of Congress, particularly of the last two weeks of the session, and the scandal bequeathed us by some of its individual members, continue the leading topics discussed by those remaining here. The

ACKLEN-ROSSER

Unpleasantness has been most relished and most exhaustively canvassed. It appears Gen. Rosser has been appealed to to stop the wagging tongue of the gossip; but he seems unwilling to interfere further than to say he did not make the matter public. The substance of the explanations offered by Acklen and his apologists is to the effect that a thoughtless indiscretion has been exaggerated out of all proportion to the unintentional offense; that the lady in question, after recovering from the agitation incident to the unhappy occurrence, acquitted Acklen of all improper intent; and a dispatch last evening stated he had started from New Orleans to this city to right the matter. But so far as can be seen the first impression made by the versions given in the Star and Republican has not been materially modified as regards the essential feature of the scandal. They were, substantially, to the effect that Rosser, while at a restaurant in this city, heard screams issuing from a private room as though from a distressed female. His demand for admittance being refused or unheeded, he forced an entrance and was convinced from what he saw that Acklen had made a violent assault on the only other occupant, a lady; that while he was ejecting Acklen the lady (represented as the sister-in-law of an Eastern M. C.) vanished. Thus the matter stands. When it is added that Acklen is a Louisiana Democratic politician, one of the several who have been elected by the shameless partisans of the House in utter disregard of the large majority by which the Republican members displaced defeated these contestants in their respective districts, it will require more than loosely constructed denials to relieve this man of the odium he has incurred. It appears very likely that the government will find itself greatly embarrassed before the end of the next fiscal year in consequence of the

INEBRIATED CONDITION

Of a portion of the House Committee on Enrolled Bills the day and night before adjournment, when they should have been attending to the proper enrollment of bills preparatory to their final passage and the President's signature. It is openly charged here that the Chairman and every Democratic member of this Committee, save one, and its Democratic clerks, were drunk. The only Republican member (Rainey, colored, whose seat it is proposed to give to a Democrat) worked hours performing his own, the duties of his associates and those of the clerks. A few moments before the time fixed for adjournment he appeared with the bill and was loudly cheered by members and complimented by the Speaker. Had Rainey been in the same condition as his confreres, adjournment would have been postponed hours till the effects of the debauch had so far worn off as to enable the Committee to see to the proper enrollment of the Sundry Civil Bill. All the legislation rendered nugatory and appropriations left unavailable by this

DISGRACEFUL LAPSE

Can only be ascertained after careful scrutiny. That some has been is already apparent; and it need surprise no one if very important, even vital interests are found to be involved. It seems improbable that 40,000,000 people would ever voluntarily place themselves in the position to be similarly disgraced and humiliated again by a handful of drunken, bummer, besotted politicians. Anderson has not been left a shred of reputation by the later witnesses in the

POTTER ENTERPRISE.

While Mrs. Jenks has convicted herself of nothing worse than forgery and a very treacherous memory, no lady need envy her the impression she has made. Only a pitying compassion will be left for those reduced to the straits of resting their reputation on the testimony of these Louisiana witnesses. Mrs. Jenks has been unable to hold the interest she at first excited, and she is probably indebted to her sex for the good natured tolerance extended her by the Committee. Butler's ill luck seemed to stick to him when he attempted the bull dozer's role with Boynton. Mr Hiscock has lost nothing of his reputation by his work on the Committee, and Mr. Reed has every reason to feel gratified with the impression he has made. Though a new member, Republicans were confident from the ability he had shown during his brief time in Congress, that their interests were safe in his hands; and his management of the somewhat prominent part assigned him is regarded as having vindicated the wisdom of his selection. Every recent development in the Committee seems to show that Greaser Potter and his Democratic followers have recovered from the paralysis superinduced by the vote forced on the resolution declaring Hayes President. Every Republican that can will be smirched, and the way will be paved for the next Congress (if Democratic) to repudiate that vote. LOGAN.

Battle Mountain Destroyed by Fire—A Woman Burned to Death.

Sunday morning at 1 o'clock the town of Battle Mountain was almost totally destroyed by fire, and, worse than all, a woman was burned to death. The fire caught in the hotel in the centre of the only business street of the town, and the entire block of buildings was destroyed; Huntsman's hotel, the railroad buildings and McWilliams' store were not burned. The woman who lost her life had been in the habit of reading after retiring to bed. This night she went to sleep while reading and her lamp exploded and set the house on fire. Being at such an hour the people could do nothing but let the flames take their course, for the town has no engine, nor is it provided with any means for extinguishing fires. The remains of the unfortunate woman passed through here on Sunday night, being sent below for burial.

Stocks.

The mining share market opened weak yesterday, and the bonanzas especially showed a decided falling off. In two or three stocks quite an activity was manifested, and higher prices ruled, but the general tendency of the market was a disappointment to those who thought the vacation would prove beneficial. There must be a development if there is to be a good market.

A Bad Rumor.

A rumor reaches us to the effect that S Arnstein who left Wadsworth a short time ago, on a trip to Europe, fell overboard on the Atlantic and was drowned. We hope there is no truth in the report, and trust some of our Wadsworth friends will confirm or deny it immediately.

GIBSON'S mare won the race at the track yesterday afternoon.

Spanish Springs Valley Becoming Settled.

Our readers have been treated to frequent items concerning Spanish Springs Valley, a beautiful tract of land only a few miles northeast of Reno, and large enough to accommodate and make homes for hundreds of families. The entrance to it is just below Van Meter's ranch on the Truckee Meadows. The great draw back to its becoming settled has been the lack of water, but this want has now been supplied by the Orr Ditch Co, and in passing through the valley the other day we noticed that some one had taken advantage of the situation and gone to work to make a nice ranch, having cleared off 40 acres and sowed it in alfalfa and potatoes, both of which were growing splendidly. Here is a splendid chance now for the man who wants a farm. The land can be got for almost nothing, the sagebrush can be easily cleared off, and there are no rocks; so that with the water that now can be used, a person can have a fine ranch in a year or two. No poor man ever had a better chance than is presented.

Ladies' Tournament.

The Ladies' Tournament at the State Fair this year will be held on Friday, as usual, but will commence at 10 o'clock, instead of 12, the change of time being made so that the tournament will not interfere with the races. The Society offers four premiums, which will consist of the Society's Silver Plate, valued respectively at $100, $70, $40 and $20 It is expected that other special premiums will be added to this list by private contribution. The lady who is adjudged first shall have her choice of all premiums offered. The second lady shall have second choice, and so on. The ladies tournament is one of the best features of our State Fair, and this year the riding will be more interesting than ever.

Reported Killed.

The report has reached Reno that Charley and Ed Sessions, sons of E. C. Sessions, and Theo. Blasdell, of Glendale, have been killed by the Indians in Surprise Valley. Their parents are very anxiously waiting to hear the truth in the case, but as yet have been unable to get the rumor either confirmed or contradicted. The alarming attitude recently assumed by the Indians in that section seem to give ground to the report. We hope it is unfounded.

A Missing Boy Found Dead.

Guy Stewart, the young boy who was lost at Dayton about three weeks ago, was found by an Indian Sunday. He was offered $100 to find him, and says that the body is in the Carson river where the boy was drowned, but refuses to reveal the location until he gets the money. Officers left yesterday afternoon to search for the remains, agreeing to pay the Indian if the remains were found.

That Writ.

On Saturday last the issue between the Taxpayers' Committee and the Commissioners was argued before the Supreme Court by Cain and Clark for the Commissioners and Varian for the Committee. The writ was incomplete, and the Court allowed Varian to withdraw it for amendment.

Confirmation.

Six persons were confirmed in the Episcopal Church last Sunday evening by Bishop Whitaker. Among the number were Rev. G. W. Fitch, formerly Methodist minister at this place, his father and mother. We are not advised as to Mr. Fitch's future actions.

MR. BLANCHARD, on the North Truckee Meadows, has built a fine two story house on his ranch, giving him one of the prettiest residences on the Meadows.

ATTENTION is called to the card of Mr. Soderberg, attorney at law. All cases entrusted to Mr. Soderberg will receive prompt attention.

THE Workingmen have a meeting at the Opera House to-night, which will be addressed by Dr. Clark. All are invited.

IN three weeks' time a canary bird concert is to be given in the Methodist Church. It will be interesting.

Now that the 4th is over we should like to see the boys come out and say what office they are after.

LOVEWELL, artist in photography, advertises himself this morning. He's a good one.

GOV. BRADLEY was among the V. & T. passengers last night.
